

ICO call for views on a direct marketing code of practice

Information Commissioner's Office

It is important that organisations ensure their marketing activities are compliant with data protection legislation (the General Data Protection Regulation and Data Protection Act 2018) and, where necessary, the Privacy and Electronic Communications Regulations 2003 (PECR).

The new code of practice will build on our current direct marketing guidance and address the aspects of the new legislation relevant to direct marketing such as transparency and lawful bases for processing, as well as covering the rules on electronic marketing (for example emails, text messages, phone calls) under PECR.

The European Union is in the process of replacing the current e-privacy law (and therefore PECR) with a new ePrivacy Regulation (ePR). However the new ePR is yet to be agreed and there is no certainty about what the final rules will be. Because of this we intend for the direct marketing code to only cover the current PECR rules until the ePR is agreed. Once the ePR is finalised and the UK position in relation to it is clear we will produce an updated version of the code which takes this into account as appropriate.

Please send us your views by 24 December 2018.

Privacy statement

For this call for views we will publish responses received from organisations but will remove any personal data before publication. We will not publish responses from individuals. For more information about what we do with personal data please see our privacy notice.

Q1 The code will address the changes in data protection legislation and the implications for direct marketing. What changes to the data protection legislation do you think we should focus on in the direct marketing code?

new requirements on consent. Further safeguards should be built in to the widespread practices of obtaining consent for direct marketing purposes and for sharing personal data with third parties through Cookies, Wifi notices and "client satisfaction" surveys. Strengthen rules around cold-calling (e.g. ban on an automated called calling, obligation to provide company information, max number of cold calls on one number in a given period of time).

Q2 Apart from the recent changes to data protection legislation are there other developments that are having an impact on your organisation's direct marketing practices that you think we should address in the code?

Yes

No

Q3 If yes please specify burgeoning market of "permissioned" on-line personal data

Q4 We are planning to produce the code before the draft ePrivacy Regulation (ePR) is agreed. We will then produce a revised code once the ePR becomes law. Do you agree with this approach?

Yes

No

Q5 If no please explain why you disagree

why do it twice. instead efforts should be concentrated on lobbying EU legislators to produce a fair and robust ePR

Q6 Is the content of the ICO's existing direct marketing guidance relevant to the marketing that your organisation is involved in?

Yes

No

Q7 If no what additional areas would you like to see covered?

Q8 Is it easy to find information in our existing direct marketing guidance?

Yes

No

Q9 If no, do you have any suggestions on how we should structure the direct marketing code?

Q10 Please provide details of any case studies or marketing scenarios that you would like to see included in the direct marketing code.

consent through cookies, wifi notices, client satisfaction surveys. purchasing "permissioned" on-line data from their parties to use for direct marketing

Q11 Do you have any other suggestions for the direct marketing code?

About you:

- Q12 Are you answering these questions as:
- a public sector worker
 - a private sector worker
 - a third or voluntary sector worker
 - a member of the public
 - a representative of a trade association
 - a data subject
 - an ICO employee
 - other

If you answered other, please specify:

Chair of the Law Society Technology and Law Committee

- Q13 Please provide the name of the organisation that you are representing:
the Law Society

- Q14 We may want to contact you about some of the points you have raised. If you are happy for us to do this please provide your email address:

[REDACTED]

Thank you for taking the time to share your views and experience.