

5 July 2023

IC-239633-Q4Y8

Request

You asked us:

"We require all documents relating to your investigations into the Morgan Hunt cyber security incident that occurred on or around 23/06/2022, and the outcome of your investigations."

We received your request on 16 June 2023.

We have handled your request under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (the FOIA).

Our response

We can confirm that we hold information in scope of your request. However, we have withheld this information under section 31 of the FOIA.

Information Withheld

While we are able to confirm that the ICO has an ongoing investigation into this incident, we have withheld further information because it is exempt from disclosure under section 31(1)(g) of the FOIA.

We can rely on Section 31(1)(g) of the FOIA where disclosure:

"would, or would be likely to, prejudice – ... the exercise by any public authority of its functions for any of the purposes specified in subsection (2)."

In this case the relevant purposes contained in subsection 31(2) are 31(2)(a) and 31(2)(c) which state:

"(a) the purpose of ascertaining whether any person has failed to comply with the law" and

"(c) the purpose of ascertaining whether circumstances which would justify regulatory action in pursuance of any enactment exist or may arise ..."

Section 31 is not an absolute exemption, and we must consider the prejudice or harm which may be caused by disclosure.

We also have to carry out a public interest test to weigh up the factors in favour of disclosure and those against.

Our investigation into EasyJet is still ongoing. To release the information you have requested could prejudice the ICO's ability to conduct the investigation in an appropriate manner. Disclosure at this stage would discourage our ongoing discussions between the ICO and EasyJet, and may damage our ability to conduct and conclude the investigation fairly and proportionately.

Disclosure could also jeopardise the ICO's ability to obtain information relating to this case or others in the future and is likely to result in other parties being reluctant to engage with the ICO in the future. Any information released at this stage could be misinterpreted, which in turn could distract from the investigation process.

With this in mind, we have then considered the public interest test for and against disclosure.

In this case the public interest factors in disclosing the information are –

- the interest of the public, and those data subjects affected by this incident in the details of the complaint;
- increased transparency in the way in which EasyJet has responded to the ICO's enquiries;
- increased transparency in the way in which the ICO conducts its investigations.

The factors in withholding the information are –

- the public interest in maintaining organisations' trust and confidence that their replies to the ICO's enquiries will be afforded an appropriate level of confidentiality
- the public interest in organisations being open and honest in their

- correspondence with the ICO without fear that their comments will be made public prematurely or, as appropriate, at all;
- the public interest in maintaining the ICO's ability to conduct the investigation into complaints as it thinks fit,
 - the public interest in this matter is served by our commitment to publish noteworthy investigations in due course as published in our "Communicating our Regulatory and Enforcement Activity Policy"

Having considered all of these factors we have taken the decision that the public interest in withholding the information outweighs the public interest in disclosing it.

Next steps

You can ask us to review our response. Please let us know in writing if you want us to carry out a review. Please do so within 40 working days. You can read a copy of our full review procedure here.

If we perform a review but you are still dissatisfied, you can complain to the ICO as regulator of the FOIA. This complaint will be handled just like a complaint made to the ICO about any other public authority.

You can raise a complaint through our website.

Your information

Our Privacy notice explains what we do with the personal data you provide to us, and set out your rights. Our retention schedule can be found here.

Yours sincerely