Freedom of Information Act 2000

Definition document for the governing bodies of maintained and other state-funded schools in England

This guidance is written for the use of all schools in England that are subject to the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA), including academies and free schools. Sixth form colleges may opt to use either this definition document or the one for colleges of further education, as appropriate to their constitution. Smaller schools may alternatively use the template guide to information schools available on the ICO website. You must make clear which document you are using.

This guidance gives examples of the kinds of information that the ICO would expect you to provide routinely in order to meet your commitments under the model publication scheme.

The ICO expects you to make the information in this definition document available unless:

- you do not hold the information;
- the information is exempt under one of the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) exemptions or Environmental Information Regulations 2004 (EIR) exceptions, or its release is prohibited under another statute (eg UK GDPR);
- the information is readily and publicly available from an external website; such information may have been provided either by you or on your behalf. You must provide a direct link to that information;
- the information is archived, out of date or otherwise inaccessible; or
- it would be impractical or resource-intensive to prepare the material for routine release.

If the information is only held by another public authority, you should provide details of where to obtain it.

The guidance is not meant to give an exhaustive or definitive list of everything that should be covered by a publication scheme. The legal commitment is to the model publication scheme, and you should look to provide as much information as possible on a routine basis.

As a minimum, the ICO expects you to make available information that is required by statute, by the Department for Education or by virtue of a funding agreement, unless the disclosure is contrary to those provisions.

Publishing datasets for re-use

As a public authority, you must publish under your publication scheme any dataset you hold that has been requested, together with any updated versions, unless you are satisfied that it is not appropriate to do so. So far as reasonably practicable, you must publish it in an electronic form that is capable of re-use.

If the dataset or any part of it is a relevant copyright work and you are the only owner, you must make it available for re-use under the terms of a specified licence. Datasets in which the Crown owns the copyright or the database rights are not relevant copyright works.

The 2018 Section 45 Code of Practice recommends that public authorities make datasets available for re-use under the Open Government Licence.

The term ‘dataset’ is defined in section 11(5) of FOIA. The terms ‘relevant copyright work’ and ‘specified licence’ are defined in section 19(8) of FOIA. The ICO has published guidance on Datasets (sections 11, 19 and 45). This explains what is meant by “not appropriate” and “capable of re-use”.

Model publication scheme

The table below identifies the specific information the ICO expects the schools in England to publish under each of the seven classes of information set out in the model publication scheme.
